EXEC-01 | Therapist only - all age groups

Preparing a start that suits me

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Choose one task, understand barriers to starting, and prepare a first step and supportive conditions. This sheet supports practical organization; it does not diagnose attention difficulties or infer a lack of willingness.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not change medication or educational/work accommodations through this sheet. Explore understanding, overload, fatigue, accessibility and resources. Avoid forced monitoring, punishments or demands for independence unsuited to the person.

Reusing existing material

CORE-05 covers action planning and CORE-06 problem solving. EXEC-01 adds focused preparation for starting: equipment, surroundings, clear instructions and a chosen reminder. Use existing forms if they are all that is needed.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What task was chosen, and what does it require?

2 | Question for discussion

What barriers make starting difficult?

3 | Question for discussion

What is a defined, possible first step?

4 | Question for discussion

What conditions, resources or accommodations are missing?

5 | Question for discussion

What will remind me to start, and when will I check whether to adapt?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Offer one clear instruction and prepare together. Do not make the child responsible for obtaining resources or institutional accommodations.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Choose reminders and sharing together; a reminder does not authorize parents or institutions to monitor completion.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Recognize work demands, caring for others and resources. Environmental adaptation may need to come before breaking the task down further.

OA | Older adults

Offer a familiar, accessible way to record without assuming an app or companion is needed because of age.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Decide together whether practice between sessions is appropriate at all. Define one opportunity, boundaries, and desired support. Practice may take place only in the session. There is no required daily sequence or requirement to share the sheet with others.

At the next session

Review the starting conditions, not only whether the task was completed. Not starting gives information about fit and barriers, not a motivation score. This sheet does not replace assessment of persistent difficulties in functioning.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
