EXEC-06 | Therapist only - all age groups

Independent routines and accommodations

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Summarize useful tools and choose a flexible routine with wanted support. Independence here means participating in choices, including with help; removing needed assistance is not a goal.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not infer an attention diagnosis or eligibility for accommodations from this sheet, or change medication or professional instructions. An accommodation request requires coordination and is not a promise of approval. Sudden changes in functioning need appropriate assessment.

Reusing existing material

EXEC-01 to EXEC-05 cover starting, planning, surroundings, responding to barriers and updating. Here choose a few tools to maintain and use when requesting adaptations, instead of repeating every sheet.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: Roni chooses to keep a short equipment list and requests changes to work instructions in writing. She agrees with a colleague what help she wants and when to review the arrangement.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What tools fit my needs and current conditions?

2 | Question for discussion

What simple cue can help include them in my routine?

3 | Question for discussion

What support is needed, and who can provide it?

4 | Question for discussion

What focused accommodation request could I coordinate?

5 | Question for discussion

What sign will prompt a review of the plan?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

If many tools seem necessary, start with one and add others only as needed. Persistent difficulty or changes in functioning warrant appropriate assessment beyond organizational worksheets.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Choose one tool with the child and a safe adult. Responsibility for the setting, suitable reminders and help remains with the adult as needed.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Let adolescents phrase the request and decide whom to share it with. Prepare an alternative if an institutional accommodation is unavailable, without promising an outcome.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Describe the functional need and requested change without requiring medical disclosure on the sheet. Check relevant coordination pathways separately.

OA | Older adults

Respect independence that includes support. Help does not cancel capability, and age is not a reason to transfer decisions to family members.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Choose at most one tool and one request if the person wants. Rehearse wording in the session before sharing, and keep personal information outside the code repository.

At the next session

Review usefulness, choice and burden as conditions change. Needing help again is not a setback; updating a routine is part of using it.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.
