FAMILY-02 | Therapist only - all age groups

Needs, expectations, and roles

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Distinguish personal needs, others' expectations, and agreed responsibilities at home. The outcome is one request or division of responsibility to clarify, according to ability, age, and the family's actual structure.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not make a child mediate between adults, manage their feelings, or take responsibility for family safety. Do not force sharing or assume the family is safe or every adult is a parent. Where there is fear, threat, or coercion, assess suitability separately before a joint conversation.

Reusing existing material

FAMILY-01 makes room for the individual's voice. Here, distinguish expectations and roles; SOC can help phrase a request once responsibility is defined.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: Dana was asked to help her brother with homework every evening. She chooses to explain that this conflicts with her own studies and asks an adult to discuss a different division of time and responsibility.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What family role would I like to explore?

2 | Question for discussion

What is my need, and what do others ask of me?

3 | Question for discussion

What time, ability, and resources are available to me?

4 | Question for discussion

What can be shared, and what is not my responsibility?

5 | Question for discussion

What limited proposal will I bring to an agreed conversation?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

If discussion becomes a list of accusations, return to one expectation and a concrete need. If there is no freedom to say no, do not continue joint negotiation as though consent exists.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Work with a concrete task and distinguish appropriate help from adult responsibility. The child may point or tell; they are not an arbitrator in parental conflict.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Explore demands from study, work, and sibling care without deciding in advance what the adolescent should bear. Explicitly check consent to share with family.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Do not assume parenthood, partnership, or shared housing. Siblings, chosen family, or a caregiving role may be discussed while considering actual resources.

OA | Older adults

Respect the wish both to give help and to reduce it. Do not infer dependence from age or take decisions away from the participant; involve a companion according to their choice.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Choose one expectation to discuss only if safe and agreed. The request can be prepared with the therapist alone; giving the sheet to family is not required.

At the next session

Check whether demands and responsibility actually became clearer, not only whether the person fulfilled the request. Lack of change may indicate a need for outside support.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.
