ANX-02 | In-session worksheet | Adults

A worry-response cycle in context

We will describe the sequence and explore hypotheses about what maintains difficulty and what provides necessary protection or support.

Client code _____ Date _____ Session number _____

01 The event or preceding factor

What happened externally or in my internal experience?

02 The prediction or threatening meaning

What did I expect, and what did I assume about my ability to cope?

03 The feeling and body sensations

What did I experience, in words that suit me?

04 The response and its function

What did I do or avoid, and what need was I trying to meet?

05 Immediate and later consequences

What changed immediately, and what happened later to worry and functioning?

06 A hypothesis to explore together

What might maintain difficulty, what is necessary and what still needs exploration?
