OCDYC-04 | OCDYC | Child aged 6–7 and a suitable support person

Ages 6–7: a shared child and family plan

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Record child preferences and supporter roles within a specialist-chosen plan, including pace, requesting help and review timing.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

The sheet provides no independent exposure planning or dosage. The therapist defines work based on assessment, agreements and family capacity. No surprises, coercion or abrupt withdrawal of support.

Reusing existing material

OCDYC is separate from ages 8 and over. Shortening an adult form does not establish suitability. Earlier OCDYC learning may help, but unit 4 does not prescribe a session number.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: Ayala asks her father to sit nearby. The therapist hears her request and explores feasibility with him. They record the agreed role and how Ayala can signal misunderstanding.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

The therapist or support person reads one question. The child may use a few words, point or skip. Adults may write the child's words but not answer for them. Professional terms and descriptions of every thought are not required.

1 | Question for discussion

What matters to me that we can do more?

2 | Question for discussion

Who will be with me as agreed?

3 | Question for discussion

What help do I want to ask for?

4 | Question for discussion

How will I say I did not understand or it is hard?

5 | Question for discussion

What do I want adults to hear before we begin?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

Differences among the child's, family's and setting's wishes need professional exploration. Completing a form is not a commitment to an unexplained task.

Child, support person and therapist — separate roles

3 | Ages 6–7 only; developmental and family adaptation required

The voice of the child aged 6–7

Ask about one concrete choice and ensure the child can signal difficulty. Saying yes does not authorize surprises.

The parent or support person's role

Discuss time constraints, support and disagreements. Do not replace an unworkable plan with stricter home demands.

The therapist's role and adapting the setting

A treatment plan requires adaptation to a reviewed manual, professional approval and documentation. This draft package does not provide that approval.

Limits of the material

Mapping against a full OCD manual and professional approval remain pending. This is original support material for review, not an approved ERP manual or its replacement.

> Do not apply this pathway to other age groups without separate review.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

The P sheet is shared: two questions for the child's voice and three for supporter observations. Use only as agreed with the therapist, without child-alone exposure homework, abrupt response changes or punishment. Daily records and thought counts are unnecessary.

At the next session

Check each participant understood their role and the child could request change or explanation. Return to the therapist before changing scope or supporter responses.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.

Treatment-manual mapping status

Mapping against a full OCD manual and professional approval remain pending. This is original support material for review, not an approved ERP manual or its replacement.
