MEANING-01 | Therapist only - all age groups

What matters to me and what can support a small step

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Explore a direction the person chooses and available resources for a small step. It is acceptable not yet to know what matters; explaining life or finding meaning in difficulty is not required.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not choose values for someone, require faith or spirituality, or present suffering as a lesson. A resource can be a relationship, interest, place, ability, or setting; spiritual content arises only at the participant's wish. Do not replace practical needs with demands for a change in attitude.

Reusing existing material

EXEC-01 and existing support sheets can help plan action. This unit adds choice of direction, not another performance plan or success measure.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What direction would I like to make room for in my life now?

2 | Question for discussion

What makes it my choice rather than only an outside expectation?

3 | Question for discussion

What resources are actually available to me?

4 | Question for discussion

What limitations or practical needs must be respected?

5 | Question for discussion

What small step would express this direction under current conditions?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Offer simple examples only if needed, without choosing a value for the child. A brief drawing or story is possible.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Distinguish the participant's wishes from family and peer expectations. Personal choices do not have to be justified.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Respect living conditions and material limitations. Interest in spirituality is neither assumed nor required.

OA | Older adults

The present, relationships, or a new interest can be explored. Do not limit meaning to a life review or a role of giving to others.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Decide together whether practice between sessions is appropriate at all. Define one opportunity, boundaries, and desired support. Practice may take place only in the session. There is no required daily sequence or requirement to share the sheet with others.

At the next session

Check whether the direction is still chosen and suitable. Changed choices or uncertainty are information for discussion. The background source does not validate the questions or age versions.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
