MEANING-03 | Therapist only - all age groups

Resources and strengths in context

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Identify an ability, relationship, or condition that may support a current need, and explore whether it is available and suitable. The outcome is a limited way to use a resource, without requiring strength or independence in every situation.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not present a lack of resources as personal failure or assume faith and spirituality. A resource does not replace treatment, basic conditions, or protection from harm. Do not force gratitude, disclosure, or requests for help from an unsuitable person.

Reusing existing material

MEANING-02 clarifies direction. Here, explore what can support it in practice; MOOD and EXEC can help adapt action to capacity instead of assuming desire is enough.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: David wants to learn something new but struggles to find quiet time. He identifies an accessible place and a small arrangement with someone close, rather than only demanding more discipline of himself.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What personal and practical resources relate to my chosen need?

2 | Question for discussion

What worked before, and under what conditions?

3 | Question for discussion

What relationships or services are available and accessible now?

4 | Question for discussion

What is missing and requires support beyond my own efforts?

5 | Question for discussion

How will I request or arrange one suitable resource?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

If a resource list sounds positive but is unavailable, examine real conditions. Lack of support calls for exploring alternatives, not a message that the person needs to become stronger.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

An adult helps find available support and is responsible for access to it. Do not burden the child with proving strength or supporting adults.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Allow resources inside and outside the home and sharing boundaries. An adolescent's ability does not justify leaving them without help.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Explore time, money, accessibility, and services alongside personal abilities. A need for institutional help may be identified instead of more personal effort.

OA | Older adults

Life experience can be a resource if the person chooses. Do not assume family is available or suitable; practical support should preserve wishes and independence.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Choose one resource to explore without financial commitment or unwanted disclosure. Contacting someone else is not required; preparing a request alone is possible.

At the next session

Check fit and availability without drawing conclusions about the person's worth. A resource that does not fit now may stay outside the plan.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.
