What screen use gives me and what I want to balance

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Understand the role of digital use in one situation and choose a small adjustment together. Include the connection, study, work, access, and enjoyment that screens enable.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

There is no uniform time limit, assumption of addiction, or blanket ban. Do not ask for passwords, screenshots of conversations, or others' identifying details. Choose adjustments according to context, needs, and ability; privacy protection does not depend on completing the sheet.

Reusing existing material

Existing planning or regulation sheets may be used when suitable. Do not turn monitoring into constant checking or punish someone for not following a plan.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What digital-use situation suits me to explore?

2 | Question for discussion

What need does it serve, including work or accessibility?

3 | Question for discussion

What in my surroundings or situation affects my use?

4 | Question for discussion

What does the use enable, and what comes at the expense of another need?

5 | Question for discussion

What adjustment would preserve the benefit and support choice?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

The adult is responsible for conditions and age-appropriate guidance. Partnership does not transfer responsibility for online protection to the child.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Respect social relationships and privacy. Do not require disclosure of messages to justify a need.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Distinguish use for work, caregiving, accessibility, and leisure. The source for children serves only as family background, not validation for adults.

OA | Older adults

Explore access, comfort, and control according to preference. Do not assume a lack of digital ability or replace choice with dependence on a companion.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Decide together whether practice between sessions is appropriate at all. Define one opportunity, boundaries, and desired support. Practice may take place only in the session. There is no required daily sequence or requirement to share the sheet with others.

At the next session

Explore whether the adjustment helped the person's chosen need and what it cost. Keeping current use may also be appropriate; there is no score based on minutes.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
