Digital environment and privacy

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Choose one environmental adjustment or privacy setting that supports a personal need. The outcome is an informed decision about what to change, preserve, and seek help with, without collecting personal information in the form.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not record passwords, codes, payment details, usernames, or message content. Do not change safety protections or access to someone else's account. Do not try to handle suspected hacking, extortion, or harm alone; contact an appropriate source of help without copying harmful content onto the sheet.

Reusing existing material

After identifying a situation in SCREEN-02, choose one adjustment such as how notifications arrive. Review settings using current official service information, not fixed technical instructions in the form.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: Noam wants fewer interruptions while studying. With a suitable person, he checks which notifications are needed and keeps a way to receive an important message without sharing a password or conversation content.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What digital condition would I like to adjust to my need?

2 | Question for discussion

What are the implications for work, connection, and access?

3 | Question for discussion

What setting will I check in the current official source?

4 | Question for discussion

What information is unnecessary to share in the process?

5 | Question for discussion

How will I know whether the adjustment helps or needs changing?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

If a change is confusing or blocks important contact, stop and explore a suitable adjustment. If digital harm is suspected, do not investigate the incident through the form.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

An adult is responsible for age-appropriate settings and explains them to the child. The exercise does not require independent account access or sharing identifying information.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Discuss the balance between protection, independence, and privacy openly. Do not use the exercise to install covert monitoring or expose peer conversations.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Check workplace policy and permissions before changing a nonpersonal device. The form is not information-security advice and does not collect account details.

OA | Older adults

Allow time to understand the setting and the option to refuse. A helper does not ask for a code or act without the person's knowledge; reading and accessibility adjustments are chosen with the participant.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Adjust only a setting the participant understands and is authorized to change. Do not share access secrets or change someone else's account; planning on paper alone is a valid option.

At the next session

Check whether the adjustment served a real need without creating a new barrier. The trial can be undone and further explanation requested; adopting a particular setting is not mandatory.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.
