Digital balance over time

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Summarize what supports functioning and choice, and identify when to update a habit or seek help. The outcome is a flexible plan based on personal need, not a uniform time target.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

This sheet does not diagnose addiction or determine treatment for a mental health problem. There is no constant monitoring, punishment, or removal of connection and accessibility tools. Significant impairment, harassment, or ongoing distress requires appropriate assessment and support.

Reusing existing material

Include only a useful insight from SCREEN-02–05. Do not repeat all sheets; choose one adjustment and a limited way to review it.

A fictional example for discussion

Fictional example: After several trials, Eitan chooses to keep one important notification and review the habit only when it interferes with an activity he wanted to do. He does not keep a daily minute count.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What useful digital use would I like to preserve?

2 | Question for discussion

What about functioning, relationships, or rest needs attention?

3 | Question for discussion

What adjustment was chosen, and what are its limits?

4 | Question for discussion

When should the plan be reviewed without constant monitoring?

5 | Question for discussion

In what situations will I seek further assessment or support?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Possible difficulties

If the plan has become another task, reduce it to one reminder or an occasional conversation. Difficulty continuing despite adjustments may need a different assessment.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Monitoring and protection are an adult's responsibility. The child describes functioning and enjoyment without screen-time scores; allow different kinds of days and requests for help.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Explore study, relationships, privacy, and demands. Do not assume minutes alone indicate a problem or use the sheet as proof of obedience.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Adapt to employment, caregiving responsibilities, and accessibility uses. A useful plan can preserve substantial digital use when it supports needs and functioning.

OA | Older adults

Explore the person's wishes about connection, information, and comfort. Do not reduce use because of age alone or replace their choice with a companion's decision.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

Choose one review point when routines change or at an agreed time. There is no covert monitoring, success score, or obligation to keep reducing use time.

At the next session

Summarize benefits, limits, and how to get help. Do not present completing the series as proof of lasting balance or resolution of difficulty.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
