Parent or support person and therapist

Another perspective from a parent or support person

An additional source of information alongside the conversation with the client. Participation and sharing will be agreed according to age, consent and applicable rules.

Client code _____ Date _____ Session number _____

> The support person's account does not replace the client's voice. Do not automatically contact others or share this sheet.

01 Who is providing the information, and what period does the account cover?

Relationship or role, date and how the information was obtained; avoid unnecessary identifying details.

02 What did I actually observe?

A recent example: what happened, in what context, and what came before and after; distinguish observation from interpretation.

03 What has changed, and what affects the routine?

When are things easier or harder? What is known about sleep, daily setting and functioning?

04 What strengths and sources of help already exist?

What goes well, what interests the client, what helped, and what was less suitable?

05 What would we like to coordinate with the client and therapist?

Desired support, limits on sharing, and differences in our perspectives that need exploration.

Mindful Path