OCD-01 | Therapist only - all age groups

Preparing a conversation for specialized OCD treatment

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

A one-time initial mapping of a participant-chosen example and questions for an appropriately trained therapist. This companion conversation sheet is neither a diagnostic tool nor OCD treatment.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

This provides no exposure, response prevention, fear hierarchy or instructions to stop rituals independently. Do not use it to seek certainty, disprove thoughts, obtain repeated reassurance or count daily symptoms. Specialized treatment, including family involvement, requires separate training and assessment.

Reusing existing material

Do not transfer an anxiety-and-worry pathway to OCD. Only the session framework is shared. The P sheet prepares for a session, not exposure or repeated monitoring.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What one example will I choose to map in the session?

2 | Question for discussion

What troubling thought, image, doubt or sensation arose?

3 | Question for discussion

What response or reassurance request did I feel urged to perform?

4 | Question for discussion

How did this affect an activity or relationship in my life?

5 | Question for discussion

What do I want the therapist to understand before planning treatment?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately 8–11 only

This CH version is limited to approximately ages 8–11, following the child age range in the NICE source. Under age 8 requires separate adaptation not prepared here. Do not request repeated completion.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Explore privacy and family involvement appropriately, without making a relative a ritual monitor or reassurance provider.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

The therapist explores context, functioning and suitability for specialized treatment. Do not diagnose from the example or promise certainty about its content.

OA | Older adults

Assess accessibility and medical or cognitive context as professionally needed, without attributing repetition solely to age or assuming a companion is required.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

This unit's P sheet only prepares a request or question for a session. It contains no independent exposure, processing or response-change task. Prepare it once, only in the session if preferred, or choose not to use it. Recording and sharing are optional.

At the next session

Revisit the sheet once in the session for shared planning. If preparation itself becomes checking, reassurance or a ritual, stop using it and discuss with the therapist. Do not add exposure tasks from this sheet.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
