Choice and support before a professional conversation

1 | Purpose, fit and boundaries

Purpose of this unit

Present-focused preparation: conversation preferences, stopping options, support and questions before planning care with a suitable professional. Choosing this scope does not select a trauma-processing protocol.

Choice and adaptation

Choose this sheet following professional assessment and with consent. The person may skip questions, answer aloud, or choose another tool. This is proposed original material for review; it provides no score, diagnosis, or promise of an outcome.

Boundaries specific to this unit

Do not request an event narrative, detailed memories, exposure, reenactment, closed eyes, breathing or body focus. Grounding practice and contact with a harmful person are not required. This unit is not PTSD treatment or a substitute for evidence-based assessment and planning. Immediate safety needs require the appropriate professional pathway, not this sheet.

Reusing existing material

Use the existing session framework without duplicating a safety plan. Regulation sheets are not a condition for care. Selecting and adapting a processing model remain outside this expansion.

> Draft for administrator review. Clinical review and final rights approval are still pending.

Working together with the worksheet

2 | A conversation about one situation

Opening

Choose a situation the person wants to explore. It need not be the hardest situation. Check that the question is understood and the wording fits the person; their account comes before the therapist's interpretation.

1 | Question for discussion

What conditions or preferences will help me participate?

2 | Question for discussion

What suits me to share now and what would I like to leave out?

3 | Question for discussion

How will I ask for a pause, explanation or change of direction?

4 | Question for discussion

What support do I want and within what boundaries?

5 | Question for discussion

What questions do I have before choosing an approach?

Closing

Summarize what became clearer and what remains open. Use the existing SES-S01 and SES-S02 for the session framework. There is no need to repeat an assessment or plan already recorded.

Adapting for four age groups

3 | Age is a starting point, not an assumption about ability

CH | Children, approximately ages 6 to 11

Adapt language and ability requirements without asking what happened. Selecting a companion requires professional consideration of safety and privacy; not every adult is a source of support.

Offer one question at a time with little writing. Adult support must not replace the child's own voice.

TE | Adolescents, approximately ages 12 to 17

Agree on privacy limits and required sharing before writing. Declining details does not prevent listening or help.

Agree in advance what will be shared and with whom, and explain the privacy limits in this setting. Do not promise absolute confidentiality.

AD | Adults

Participant preferences take priority over a technique. Consent to the sheet is not consent to processing or exposure.

OA | Older adults

Explore access and pacing adjustments by preference. Do not assume a need for life review, accompaniment or family sharing.

Offer reading support, time, and conversation according to preference. Choose help from another person together with the participant, respecting their privacy.

> Each age version needs its own review. Approval of one version does not automatically approve the others.

Practice, review and next steps

4 | Shared choice and learning from the attempt

Before offering practice sheet P

This unit's P sheet only prepares a request or question for a session. It contains no independent exposure, processing or response-change task. Prepare it once, only in the session if preferred, or choose not to use it. Recording and sharing are optional.

At the next session

Check whether choice remained and requests were heard. Leaving the sheet blank, changing preferences or choosing another tool is allowed. Further treatment requires separate professional assessment and consent.

Professional and technical records

Each version has a separate review record covering age suitability, originality, rights, and fictional filling. Reviewer and date fields remain blank until assigned. File checks or a code merge are not clinical approval. Clinical information stays only in the authorized setting, outside the code repository.

Background references

The following links were used for background only. Questions and adaptations were written afresh for the expansion plan; no questionnaire, scale, or protocol was copied. Adult sources do not validate the child versions. This material makes no claim about session count or treatment effectiveness.
